

Ref: 2015S40/160

Sent: 11 January 2015 13:06

To: Nature Conservation

Subject: stop destroying our hedgerows

To whom it concerns:

Why do you send out people on machines every year who haven't a clue what they are doing to manage our hedgerows? Anything that grows in the hedgerows is destroyed. I mean destroyed, not cut, not managed, not trimmed... Every tree is targeted to be totally destroyed by someone pushing a lever in a machine

Has anyone in your office done any basic research on the importance of hedgerows for our biodiversity and then actually looked at what is done to them every single year? Will we have to destroy them all before you lot wake up?

Yours