ii. Test 1: Conclusion

Please tick the following where it applies:

There is a valid reason(s) listed in Regulation 54 (a)-(e) which applies to the proposed activity:	Yes	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
	No	<input type="checkbox"/>

The application form and associated documentation provided by the applicant has been reviewed in full. The application relies on regulation 54(2)(c) ‘in the interests of public health and public safety, or for other imperative reasons of overriding public interest, including those of a social or economic nature and beneficial consequences of primary importance for the environment’ as the reason chosen for a derogation that they believe applies to the proposed activity.

In the detail provided, it is clear that the applicants are relying on the imperative reasons of overriding public interest, including those of a social or economic nature aspect of Reason C. As outlined in the accompanying report titled “Newry Road, Bat Survey” a derogation is required for proposed works at Highfield House, Newry Road, Dundalk, Co. Louth.

The objective of the works includes the renovation of the existing Highfield House property and the construction of new residential accommodation associated with Women’s Aid Dundalk. This will allow Women’s Aid Dundalk to support the region with critical social services and provide further accommodation for individuals as an “important infrastructure project”

The applicant has provided evidence as to the nature and scale of the public interest including those of a social or economic nature for the proposed works and the proposed activity is necessary to achieve these overall objectives. Based on the above this application has passed Test 1 and can now proceed to Test 2 |

Test 2: Absence of a satisfactory alternative

Please tick the following where it applies and add a comment below to support the recommendation:

The applicant has provided satisfactory evidence that alternative solutions have been considered and have given reasons why the proposed approach is the only satisfactory alternative:	Yes	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
	No	<input type="checkbox"/>

Please outline your analysis below and state how the applicant has provided evidence to support your conclusion (If you wish to add additional conditions please complete pg. 6):

The documentation submitted by the applicant has been reviewed, including evidence for alternative solutions.

The purpose of the derogation is to allow the following activity to take place: the renovation and construction works on the Highfield House and areas immediately adjacent.

The alternative solutions considered by the applicant are:

- “Do Nothing” scenario: In the do-nothing scenario, this would result in the existing building remaining unused or unsuitable for the intended social housing and refuge accommodation. This would prevent the delivery of important support services for vulnerable individuals and would not meet the social need for the proposed development.
- Retention of the roost within the existing structure: The proposed development requires significant structural renovation of the existing building including roof works and alterations to the building fabric. The bat roost occurs within crevices associated with the building structure and cannot be retained without preventing the required works
- Relocation of the development to another site: The development is specifically tied to the Highfield House property which is owned or secured for the project and forms part of the approved development proposal. Relocation to an alternative site is not feasible and would prevent the delivery of the project.
- Partial retention of the building structure: The structural works required for renovation and conversion of the building mean that the existing crevice roosting features cannot be maintained safely or practically. Retention of the roost within the existing structure would compromise the viability and safety of the redevelopment works.

The applicant has provided satisfactory evidence that alternative solutions have clearly been considered.

Based on the assessment of the application documentation, it is regarded that the applicant has considered all available alternative solutions and at this time no other alternative solutions are apparent.

Having weighed the possible solutions to solve the applicant’s problem against the effects of a derogation on the species concerned, it is concluded that the application has passed Test 2 and can proceed to Test 3 |
Upon completion of your assessment, please return this Recommendation to WLU to continue the application process.

Test 3: Impact of a derogation on conservation status of the species

Please tick the following where it applies and add a comment below to support the recommendation:

The derogation would NOT be detrimental to the maintenance of the populations of the species in question at a favourable conservation status in their natural range.	Yes	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
	No	<input type="checkbox"/>

A small pipistrelle roost is present within one of the buildings on site. Both common and soprano pipistrelles are widespread and abundant in Ireland and are in favourable conservation status. These species are also adaptable and quick to occupy new roosting features.

Suitable and proportionate mitigation has been proposed, including the provision of alternative roosts in the form of bat boxes, sensitive light and landscaping plan. Providing these mitigation measures are implemented, I am satisfied that the works will not be detrimental to the maintenance of the populations of the species in question at a favourable conservation status in their natural range

If the answer above is Yes then the derogation may be granted, providing Tests 1 and 2 have also been met.

Upon completion of your assessment, please return this Recommendation to WLU to continue the application process.
