1. Introduction

1.1 Objective of the proposed works

The proposed development involves the renovation of an abandoned creamery and the installation of private garden spaces at Shanagolden, Co. Limerick.

1.2 Survey team members and relevant experience

Team Member	Relevant Experience
Colette Murray	Colette has a BSc (Hons) degree in Zoology received from University College Cork (UCC) as well as a Master's Degree in Marine Biology, also from UCC. Colette has undertaken and led several bat surveys around Munster for a variety of projects. Colette currently holds derogation licences relating to Lesser horseshoe bat, Leisler's bat, Common pipistrelle and Soprano pipistrelle roosts.
Róisín Ni Dhonobháin	Róisín has a BSc (Hons) degree in Zoology received from Trinity College, Dublin. Róisín has carried out and led a number of bat surveys including emergence surveys, transect surveys as well as static surveillance. Róisín has a Certificate of Bat Acoustics Analysis from Batability and is proficient in analysing bat acoustics using Kaleidoscope Pro software.

2. Background to proposed activity

Southern Scientific Services Ltd was commissioned by Paul Roche on behalf of Smart Visibility to prepare a Bat Impact Assessment for an abandoned creamery at Shanagolden, Co. Limerick. This Bat Impact Assessment includes an internal survey for evidence of roosting bats, an emergence survey and a static survey. Each survey took place during the optimum time of year (May to September inclusive). The data collected will establish whether any bats are using the structure or the surrounding area, and to identify and implement measures to ensure that bats are not impacted by this proposed development.

3. Proposed Activity to be covered by derogation

The proposed development plans to renovate the existing creamery on site into 11 residential units including parking and garden spaces at Shanagolden, Co. Limerick.

2. Ecological survey and site assessment

2.1 Aim of Survey

This Bat Impact Assessment includes an internal survey for evidence of roosting bats, an emergence survey and a bat activity survey. The bat activity survey involved the deployment of a static detector on site. Each survey took place during the optimum time of year (May to September inclusive). The data collected will establish whether any bats are using the structure or the surrounding area, and to identify and implement measures to ensure that bats are not impacted by this proposed development.

2.2 Site location

The application site is situated in the village of Shanagolden, approximately 14 km northwest of Newcastlewest (Figure 1). The site is bounded to the immediate south and east by local roads (R521, L6118 and L1227). A graveyard is present to the north, and scrub and grassland to the west. The Shanagolden Demesne stream adjoins the site on the southwestern corner, running from the north and going east from the southwest corner of the site. Mountdavid stream comes in from the west and is approximately 22m south of the site at the nearest point. Both streams join approximately 10m south of the southeasterly boundary of the site before flowing into the Shanagolden Stream and into the Shannon Estuary.

The application site is located within Irish National Grid Square R25. Lower River Shannon SAC is situated approximately 3km north of site. According to Corine Land Cover (CLC) data, the development site is situated in an area classified mostly as artificial surfaces. The soil type within the application site is well drained mineral soils

2.3 Relevant legislation

At both the European Union and Irish levels, bats are protected under a range of legislation aimed at conserving their populations and habitats. At the EU level, bats are protected under the EU Habitats Directive (92/43/EEC), which designates bats as a species of European importance. Annex IV of the Directive lists all bat species as "strictly protected," prohibiting the capture, killing, or disturbance of bats, as well as the destruction of their breeding and resting sites. In Ireland, this is transposed into national law through the Wildlife Act 1976 (and its amendments) and the European Communities (Birds and Natural Habitats) Regulations 2011. These laws require developers and landowners to ensure that any activities or projects do not harm bats or their habitats, and they mandate environmental assessments for any proposed development that may impact bat species.

Ireland's nine species of bats are all Red Data listed and receive protection through the Wildlife Act (1976 & 2000) and Annex IV of the EU Habitats Directive, under which it is an offence to intentionally disturb, kill or injure a bat or its resting place. This protection, therefore, encompasses the protection of bat habitats (Marnell, Kingston and Looney, 2009). This includes roost sites such as cavities in trees, cracks and crevices in buildings, both derelict and in use. Lesser Horseshoe Bats are further protected under this act being an Annex II species. Annex II of the EU Habitats Directive lists animal and plant species of community interest that require the designation of Special Areas of Conservation (SAC's).

A total of 41 SAC's have been designated for the Lesser Horseshoe Bat, with 9 of these also selected for the Annex I habitat, "Caves Not Open to the Public" (*8310), this habitat is integrally linked to Lesser Horseshoe Bat as part of the habitat for the species.

2.4 Bats in the local area

An ecological desktop assessment was undertaken on the 19th of September 2025. The lower River Shannon SAC is situated approximately 3km north of the site, with the Barrigone SAC approximately 5km to the northeast and Askeaton Fen complex approximately 10.5km to the east. The Lesser Horseshoe bat is not a qualifying interest of any of these European sites and the closest documented roost according to NPWS records is located 10km from the project site.

The Landscape Conservation for Irish Bats dataset was accessed via the online National Biodiversity Data Centre live mapping interface on the 19th of September 2025 (<https://maps.biodiversityireland.ie/Map>) to obtain background information on the suitability of the project site and wider area for all of the Irish bat species. The Habitat Suitability Indices score for each of these species within the area is shown in Table 1. The area around the proposed project site in Shanagolden, Co. Limerick has an overall Bat Suitability Index of 32.67 for all bat species according to the National Biodiversity Database online mapping system (See Appendix I for Bat Landscapes map). This score indicates a moderate suitability for bats in the general area.

Common Name	Scientific Name	Habitat Suitability Index
Soprano pipistrelle	Pipistrellus pygmaeus	42
Brown long-eared bat	Plecotus auritus	47
Common pipistrelle	Pipistrellus pipistrellus	42
Lesser horseshoe bat	Rhinolophus hipposideros	17
Lesser noctule	Nyctalus leisleri	40
Whiskered bat	Myotis mystacinus	25
Daubenton's bat	Myotis daubentonii	30
Nathusius's pipistrelle	Pipistrellus nathusii	19
Natterer's bat	Myotis nattereri	32

The area is considered most highly suitable for Brown long-eared bat (Plecotus auritus), Soprano pipistrelle (Pipistrellus pygmaeus), Common pipistrelle (Pipistrellus pipistrellus) and Leisler's bat (Nyctalus leisleri). The site is considered moderately suitable for Daubenton's bat (Myotis daubentonii) and Natterer's bat (Myotis nattereri) with moderate – low suitability for Whiskered bat (Myotis mystacinus) and Nathusius's pipistrelle (Pipistrellus nathusii). The site is least suitable for the Lesser Horseshoe bat (Rhinolophus hipposideros).

In addition, National Biodiversity Data Centre (NBDC) 1 km and 2 km grid squares intersecting this project were assessed for records of bats. This project is located entirely within the 1km square R2547 and contains records of Common pipistrelle (Pipistrellus pipistrellus) and Leisler's bat (Nyctalus leisleri). This project is located entirely within the 2km square R254N which contains the same records as the 1km square.

2.5 Methodology

The basic methodology was that described by Kelleher & Marnell (2006) and Collins (2023). The field surveys were comprised of 3 parts: a preliminary roost assessment (PRA), dusk emergence survey and a static survey.

2.5.1 Preliminary roost assessment (PRA)

A PRA is a detailed inspection of the exterior and interior of a structure to look for features that bats could use for entry/exit and roosting and to search for signs of bats. The aim of this survey is to determine the actual or potential presence of bats and the need for further survey and/or mitigation. Evidence of bats might include live or dead specimens, bat droppings, urine splashes, fur-oil staining and/or squeaking noises.

2.5.2 Dusk emergence survey

The purpose of this survey is to determine whether any bat species were roosting in the building proposed to be renovated and extended. This involved the deployment of surveyors to observe, listen for and record bats in flight. Surveyors should be in position 15 minutes before sunset and remain in position for 1.5 to 2 hours after sunset. During this time surveyors will record bat numbers, species and activity type. Elekon Batlogger M bat detectors were used to detect bat passes throughout the survey. It should be noted that each bat pass does not correlate to an individual bat but is representative of bat activity levels. Data collected was analysed using Kaleidoscope Pro acoustics software. All auto ID recordings were manually checked and amended if necessary.

2.5.3 Static survey

Automated/static bat activity surveys involve bat detectors being deployed at fixed locations to record bat activity remotely in order to establish species richness, provide a measure of relative abundance and establish the importance of different landscape features to bats. The Song Meter Mini Bat 2 static detector was used to record bat passes. It should be noted that each bat pass does not correlate to an individual bat but is representative of bat activity levels. Detectors are left in-situ for a minimum of 5 days at each location. The acoustic files were analysed using Kaleidoscope Pro acoustics software. All auto ID recordings were manually checked and amended if necessary.

2.6 Results

Field surveys were comprised of 3 parts: a preliminary roost assessment (PRA), a dusk emergence survey and a static survey. All surveys were carried out in conditions that are considered optimum for bat surveys in accordance with BCT guidelines (Collins, 2023).

2.6.1 Preliminary roost assessment

A PRA was carried out on the 19th of September 2025 to identify PRFs in the interior and exterior of the buildings within the site boundary. Habitats on site were mainly comprised of buildings and artificial structures (BL3), stone walls (BL1), scrub (WS3) and treelines (WL2) (Fossitt, 2000).

The survey began with a visual inspection of the interior and exterior of the derelict building on site. All possible roosting sites that might be used by the nine species of bats in Ireland were investigated. The building was first inspected internally and externally for any signs of roosting bats as well as to identify any potential roost access points. Signs of roosting bats include living or dead specimens, bat droppings, urine splashes, fur-oil staining and / or squeaking noises. Piles of insect remains, mainly comprised of moth wings, were found throughout the northern building. No other signs were found. The external survey found there to be a number of possible access points, including windows missing glass as well as cracks and crevices. In addition to this, there were dense stands of ivy present on external walls. It was therefore concluded that the potential for bats roosting within the building could not be ruled out and an emergence survey was required. See Appendix III for site photos.

2.6.2 Dusk Emergence survey

Two emergence surveys were carried out on the 19/09/2025 and the 25/09/2025 to establish whether bats are roosting within any of the PRFs identified in the PRA. See Table 2 for details relating to the emergence surveys.

Table 2 Emergence survey information.

Date	Start time	Finish time	Weather Conditions
19/09/2025	19:25	21:10	Patches of light drizzle, slight breeze, full cloud cover and temp 14°C at sunset
25/09/2025	19:10	20:55	Partial cloud, no rain, no wind and temp 13°C at sunset

Surveyors, in addition to a thermal camera were positioned to ensure all PRFs were in clear view from 15 minutes before sunset and remained in place for at least 1.5 hours after sunset. Weather conditions were optimal for the second emergence survey but were sub-optimal during the first due to light rain. A mixture of Soprano pipistrelle and Common pipistrelle bats were recorded emerging from the building, through one entry/exit point (Figure 3). Approximately 10 bats emerged throughout the survey. It can be deduced that the bats were roosting in the roof cavity space as no bats were observed in the upper floor of the building.

Additionally, bats were recorded commuting/foraging along the boundaries of the site during these surveys, along the northern boundary. Figure 4 shows the noted flight paths observed. These include Leisler's bats, Nathusius's Pipistrelles and Brown Long-eared bats (see Table 3). Pipistrelles were the most commonly recorded species, followed by Leisler's bats. Small numbers of Brown long-eared bats were also recorded. These findings were confirmed through desktop analysis of sound files using Kaleidoscope Pro software.

2.6.2 Static Survey

A static detector was placed on the site to gather information relating to foraging and commuting bats both within the site and directly adjacent to it. The static was placed at the base of a chimney structure to the north-west of the site. Table 3 provides additional information regarding the static deployment including exact ITM coordinates and dates. Figure 5 shows the location of the static.

A total of 4357 bat passes were recorded by the static, recording a total of 6 species as shown in Table 4 below. The most common species at this location are Common pipistrelles and Soprano pipistrelles, as shown in Figure 6 below, with over 1500 bat passes recorded for both. Leisler's bat was also common with 292 passes. Brown long-eared bats and Natterer's were recorded in moderate numbers (<100). Nathusius' Pipistrelle was recorded in very low numbers (<5). Six of the nine species resident in Ireland were recorded. Daubenton's bat, Lesser horseshoe bat and Whiskered bat were absent from the survey.

2.7 Discussion

Common and Soprano pipistrelles were detected emerging from the front of the northern building during the emergence survey, indicating that a roost is present on site. This roost would not be considered a maternity roost due to the small number of individuals recorded. Common and Soprano pipistrelle maternity colonies typically hold 20 to > 1000 individuals (Collins, 2023). The roost is likely a day roost or satellite roost. A day roost may be used by individual or small groups of bats to rest or shelter in the day during the summer. A satellite roost is an alternative roost found in close proximity to the main nursery colony and is used by a few individuals/small groups of breeding females throughout the breeding season. It is unlikely that the loss of this roost would significantly impact the populations of these species in the locality, given the fact that they are commonly recorded species in Ireland and very tolerant of light and other anthropogenic disturbances.

Bat activity was moderate – high within the vicinity of the building with six of the nine species resident in Ireland being detected throughout the surveys. The survey results indicate that this area holds Site to Local level importance given the presence of an Annex IV bat roost and the detection of six Annex IV bat species during the dusk emergence survey (Reason & Wray, 2023).

The roof will require removal as part of the project and, therefore, the roost cannot be retained in situ. However, the mitigation below recommends the installation of bat boxes to provide alternative roosting habitat for the species present. The UK Bat Mitigation Guidelines states that where small roosts of low conservation status are present (e.g. day roosts of common species) in properties where living space is limited, bat boxes are often the most appropriate and reasonable solution (Reason & Wray, 2023). Additionally, specific lighting should be installed, facing away from foraging/commuting routes where possible and reducing light spill and up-lighting.

2.8 Mitigation

Given the presence of a Soprano and Common pipistrelle bat roost within the building, as well as the suitable foraging/commuting habitat on site, and within close proximity of the site, the following mitigation should be implemented.

Lighting	- Light should only be erected where it is needed, illuminated during the period it will be used, and at the level that enhance visibility. - All luminaires should lack UV elements when manufactured. Metal halide, compact fluorescent sources should not be used. LED luminaires should be used where possible due to their sharp cut-off, lower intensity, good colour rendition and dimming capability. A warm white light source (2700 Kelvin or lower) should be adopted to reduce blue light component. Light sources should feature peak wavelengths higher than 550 nm to avoid the component of light most disturbing to bats. - Use the lowest levels of lighting permitted for health and safety. - Direct light away from the hedgerow/treeline bordering the site, where possible. - Internal luminaires can be recessed (as opposed to using a pendant fitting) where installed in proximity to windows to reduce glare and light spill. - Waymarking inground markers (low output with cowls or similar to minimise upward light spill) to delineate path edges. - Low level lighting less than 1 m should be used (including columns) as it is the higher projecting lighting that is of concern, so the traditional high level street lighting is to be avoided.	The proposed development will result in an increase of introduced light to the site both during construction and once operational. Bat species are sensitive to light pollution and so the implementation of these mitigation measures will ensure there is no negative impacts of light pollution on the population of bat species.	Measures prescribed by Bat Conservation Trust, 2023, the National Parks and Wildlife Service (NPWS) and as best practice and are proven technologies/methods.	Measures will be in place during the design phase from the commencement of the construction phase and will continue during the operational phase.	These control measures will be implemented and regularly inspected by the contractor. The contractor will be responsible for the regular maintenance of these controls.

	• Only luminaires with a negligible or zero Upward Light Ratio, and with good optical control, should be considered. • Luminaires should always be mounted horizontally, with no light output above 90° and/or no upward tilt. • Where appropriate, external security lighting should be set on motion sensors and set to as short as possible a timer (1-2 minutes approximately) as the risk assessment will allow. • Reduce light spill so that light reaches only areas needing illumination. Shielding or cutting light can be achieved through the design of the luminaire or with accessories, such as hoods, cowls, louvres and shields to direct the light. • From May to September inclusive construction works are not to take place from dusk to dawn. Artificial lighting is to be kept to an absolute minimum during this time. • Limit the times that lights are on to provide some dark periods for wildlife. • Limit light along the northern boundary of the site.

2.9 Conclusion

Southern Scientific Services Ltd was commissioned by Paul Roche on behalf of Smart Visibility to prepare a Bat Impact Assessment.

The preliminary roost assessment revealed that signs of bats were present and that there were several possible entry/exit points within the external walls, warranting the need for a dusk emergence survey. The dusk emergence revealed the presence of a small roost of Common and Soprano pipistrelles (approx. 10 individuals). Given the small number of individuals, it is likely a day roost or satellite roost. Six of the nine Irish bat species were detected throughout the emergence surveys and static survey, indicating that this area holds Site to Local level importance for bat species according to the UK Bat Mitigation Guidelines.

The mitigation provided in Section 2.8 will ensure that bat populations in the area are not adversely impacted as a result of the proposed development.

3. Evidence to support the derogation tests

3.1 Test 1 – Reason for derogation

The proposed development involves the renovation of the structures on site and the subsequent development of parking and garden spaces at Shanagolden, County Limerick. The site is currently not in use, and the proposed development will allow for the provision of accommodation in Shanagolden. It will also allow for the development and repurpose of an existing disused building.

Following an emergence survey, the building was identified as a roost for Common and Soprano pipistrelle bats and, therefore, a derogation licence is required to allow the project to proceed. Ten bats were recorded emerging from the roof of the building during the course of the 2 emergence surveys. Given the small number of individuals, it is likely a day roost or satellite roost. Due to the nature of the proposed development, the roof will need to be completely replaced and retention of the roost in-situ is not possible. However, these species are very common throughout Ireland and have proven to be highly resilient to human activity and very adaptable. Removal of this roost and replacement with a bat box is not expected to impact the local population. Additionally, retention and planting of vegetation/hedgerow on site as well as implementation of the recommended lighting will prevent disturbance of any other bat species using the area.

Shanagolden Co-Op Creamery is a detached six-bay single-storey double-pile former creamery, built c. 1920 with a three-bay single storey extension to east. It is registered under the Record of Protected Structures (RPS) and also under the National Inventory of Architectural Heritage (NIAH). Each planning authority has a clear obligation to create a Record of Protected Structures (RPS) which includes all structures, or parts of structures, in their functional areas which, in their opinion, are of special Architectural, Artistic, Archaeological, Cultural, Historical, Scientific, Social or Technical interest. The RPS forms part of the planning authority's development plan. Each planning authority is obliged to preserve the character or places and townscapes which are of special Architectural, Artistic, Archaeological, Cultural, Historical, Scientific, Social or Technical interest, or which contribute to the appreciation of protected structures, by designating them as Architectural Conservation Areas (ACAs) in their development plan. The development plan must include objectives for the protection of such structures, and the preservation of the character of such areas, to ensure proper and sustainable planning and development. The creamery building is currently not in use and has fallen into disrepair. Refurbishment and reimagining of the building will allow the building to be repaired and maintained on a long term basis.

The Limerick County Development Plan (2022-2028) recognises the importance of providing housing within Limerick City and County. Several sections of the plan relate directly to the refurbishment of the Shanagolden Co-Op Creamery:

- 4.2.3 Housing Mix To cater for the projected population growth and the establishment of sustainable residential communities, a mix of dwelling types and sizes will be required to meet the housing needs of all members of society.
- 4.2.4 Residential Density A key objective of the NPF and RSES is to increase the density of development in all built up areas, in order to achieve the indicated population targets in a compact and sustainable manner. Increased densities will facilitate optimising the use of serviced lands and maximising the viability of investment in social and physical infrastructure, in particular public transport.
- 4.2.6 Re-use of Buildings The existing housing stock of Limerick provides a valuable resource in terms of meeting the needs of a growing population and its retention and management is of considerable importance. Retaining and adapting, including measures to promote downsizing as appropriate, and encouraging energy retrofitting of the existing housing stock, is important to stem population loss in these areas as this promotes and encourages additional dwelling units within existing communities, particularly those suited to the emerging demographics of an area.
- 4.2.7 Apartments Just under 10% of households in Limerick live in apartments, according to the 2016 Census which is lower than the national average (12%). Apartments are a key and growing part of the way in which we live in various parts of our country and particularly in our cities and towns. A move towards a much greater level of apartment living is essential in ensuring our major urban areas develop sustainably, rather than sprawling inexorably outwards.

To conclude, renovation of the Shanagolden creamery site will create accommodation within the village and allow the currently derelict protected structure to be repurposed and maintained. The loss of the roost is not significant in comparison due to the small number of bats inhabiting the site and the resilient nature of the species recorded.

3.2 Test 2 – Absence of alternative solutions

Do Nothing:

The Shanagolden creamery will be retained in derelict condition, preventing its use as residential accommodation. Without maintenance, it is expected that the building will eventually become unsuitable for bat roosting due to its continued deterioration over time.

Proceed without mitigation:

Commencing the project without implementing the suggested mitigation could result in direct harm and/or disturbance to Common and Soprano pipistrelle bats that are currently using the building as a roost. Additionally, other bat species foraging around the development site, such as those listed in Table 3, could be disturbed as a result of a removal of habitat and/or implementation of unsuitable lighting.

3.3 Test 3 – Impact of derogation on conservation status

Common and Soprano pipistrelles were detected emerging from the roof of the main building during the second emergence survey on the 25th of September 2025, indicating that a roost is present on site. This roost would not be considered a maternity roost due to the small number of individuals recorded. Common and Soprano pipistrelle maternity colonies typically hold 20 to > 1000 individuals (Collins, 2023). The roost is likely a day roost or satellite roost. A day roost may be used by individual or small groups of bats to rest or shelter in the day during the summer. A satellite roost is an alternative roost found in close proximity to the main nursery colony and is used by a few individuals/small groups of breeding females throughout the breeding season. It is unlikely that the loss of this roost would significantly impact the populations of these species in the locality, given the fact that they are commonly recorded species in Ireland and very tolerant of light and other anthropogenic disturbances.

Bat activity was moderate – high within the vicinity of the building with six of the nine species resident in Ireland being detected throughout the surveys. The survey results indicate that this area holds Site to Local level importance given the presence of an Annex IV bat roost and the detection of six Annex IV bat species during the dusk emergence survey (Reason & Wray, 2023).

The roof will require removal as part of the project and, therefore, the roost cannot be retained in situ. However, the mitigation below recommends the installation of bat boxes to provide alternative roosting habitat for the species present. The UK Bat Mitigation Guidelines states that where small roosts of low conservation status are present (e.g. day roosts of common species) in properties where living space is limited, bat boxes are often the most appropriate and reasonable solution (Reason & Wray, 2023). Additionally, specific lighting should be installed, facing away from foraging/commuting routes where possible and reducing light spill and up-lighting.

There is potential for disturbance for commuting and foraging bats in the area. However, mitigation recommends specific lighting for the operational phase of the project and limits the use of artificial light during the construction phase. Additionally, there will be limited removal of vegetation and hedgerows/treelines currently on site will be enhanced through the planting of native species to complement the current composition.

The mitigation provided in Section 2.8 will ensure that bat populations in the area are not adversely impacted as a result of the proposed development.

4. Monitoring the impacts of the derogations

Derogations require the submission of a report to the NPWS on the activity carried out and details of numbers and species affected. To this effect, a report will be prepared addressing all conditions specified in the derogation licence, confirming that all mitigation measures were adhered to and implemented as specified in Section 2.8. A repeat bat activity survey will be carried out at a suitable time of year to establish whether bats are roosting in the bat box and investigate whether bat activity has changed around the site during the operational phase of the development.
