

Feeding Birds

Feeding birds can help many small birds to survive through a cold winter. It will also bring more birds to your garden, and make them easier to watch.

OFFER THIS FOOD

Peanuts are the commonest food offered and are loved by many species.

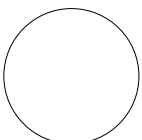

Niger seed attracts goldfinches, siskins and others, but needs a special feeder.

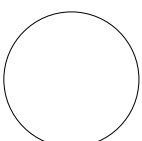

Mixed seed can be cheap, but can be wasteful if the birds don't like it all.

Many birds like fat balls. Do not offer fat balls in a net bag. Birds can get entangled in the net.

Don't forget water, especially in icy weather.

You can also grow plants to attract birds. Native trees and bushes will provide insects and berries for birds.
