Test 1: A reason(s) listed in Regulation 54 (a)-(e) applies to the proposed activity

i. Tick which reason the applicant claims should be applied to the derogation

(a) In the interests of protecting wild flora and fauna and conserving natural habitats,	<input type="checkbox"/>
(b) To prevent serious damage, in particular to crops, livestock, forests, fisheries and water and other types of property	<input type="checkbox"/>

(e) To allow, under strictly supervised conditions, on a selective basis and to a limited extent, the taking or keeping of certain specimens of the species to the extent specified therein, which are referred to in the First Schedule.	<input type="checkbox"/>

ii. Test 1: Conclusion

Please tick the following where it applies:

There is a valid reason(s) listed in Regulation 54 (a)-(e) which applies to the proposed activity:	Yes	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
	No	<input type="checkbox"/>

The application form and associated documentation provided by the applicant has been reviewed in full. The application relies on regulation 54(2)(c) 'in the interests of public health and public safety, or for other imperative reasons of overriding public interest, including those of a social or economic nature and beneficial consequences of primary importance for the environment' as the reason chosen for a derogation that they believe applies to the proposed activity.

In the detail provided, it is clear that the applicants are relying on the imperative reasons of overriding public interest, including those of a social or economic nature aspect of Reason C.

As outlined on page three of the accompanying report, the derogation is required to facilitate survey works at the proposed Cummeennabudoge Wind Farm, located in County Kerry which includes the construction and operation of 17 wind turbines, associated buildings and an underground grid connection.

The report notes the project is of overriding public interest as it contributes directly to Irish national and EU targets for renewable energy generation and the reduction of greenhouse gas and the surveys are needed to update baseline data and inform ongoing ecological monitoring.

The applicants have provided evidence as to the nature and scale of the overriding public interest reasoning and the proposed activity is necessary to achieve these overall objectives. Based on the above this application has passed Test 1 and can now proceed to Test 2.

Test 2: Absence of a satisfactory alternative

Please tick the following where it applies and add a comment below to support the recommendation:

The applicant has provided satisfactory evidence that alternative solutions have been considered and have given reasons why the proposed approach is the only satisfactory alternative:	Yes	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
	No	<input type="checkbox"/>

The documentation submitted by the applicant has been reviewed, including the evidence for alternative solutions. The purpose of the derogation is to allow the following activity to take place: To allow the Applicant to undertake surveys to answer the RFI from the planning authority. Surveys will employ established best-practice techniques for detecting Kerry slug; however, these methods potential may risk disturbance to individuals or their habitat.

The specific situation that needs to be addressed is that Kerry Slug Population size is dynamic and individuals are not site-faithful across suitable habitat; consequently, it is not possible to predict the maximum number of individuals that may be affected.

The alternative solutions suggested by the applicant are:

“Do-Nothing” scenario [NPWS regional staff accept the reasoning outlined by the applicant in their report as to why this is not a satisfactory alternative as this scenario would result in insufficient data to adequately assess the presence, distribution, and potential impacts on Kerry slug within the proposed development area

“Desk-based study” scenario [NPWS regional staff accept the reasoning outlined by the applicant in their report as to why this is not a satisfactory alternative as a desktop study alone would likely inaccurately predict potential impacts.

The applicant has provided satisfactory evidence that alternative solutions have clearly been considered. As outlined on page(s) 4-7 of the accompanying report. Based on the assessment of the application documentation, it is regarded that the applicant has considered all available alternative solutions and at this time no other alternative solutions are apparent.

Having weighed the possible solutions to solve the applicant’s problem against the effects of a derogation on the species concerned, it is concluded that the application has passed Test 2 and can proceed to Test 3.

Upon completion of your assessment, please return this Recommendation to WLU to continue the application process.

Test 3: Impact of a derogation on conservation status of the species

Please tick the following where it applies and add a comment below to support the recommendation:

The derogation would NOT be detrimental to the maintenance of the populations of the species in question at a favourable conservation status in their natural range.	Yes	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
	No	<input type="checkbox"/>

The site of the proposed wind farm at Cummeennabuddoge, Co. Kerry (W18; W28), is within the distribution range of the Kerry Slug in Ireland. It is also immediately adjacent (to the south) to the Killarney National Park, Macgillycuddy's Reeks and Caragh River Catchment SAC, for which Kerry Slug is a qualifying interest. The wider area contains areas of suitable habitat for the species and suitable forestry habitat for the slug is present within the wind farm footprint. Previous studies have shown that the Kerry Slug is present at the site.

The derogation application is for potential disturbance caused during monitoring that is proposed to be carried out in response to an RFI for a planning application. The survey work will take the form of hand searching and 'trapping' using metric mat refugia traps. There will be minimal capture of individuals and no translocation or killing of individuals will occur. It is accepted that the proposed disturbance will not result in loss of habitat for the species. It is also accepted that the disturbance will not have an impact on the population of Kerry Slug within the Killarney National Park, Macgillycuddy's Reeks and Caragh River Catchment SAC.

The range and population of this species in Ireland has been assessed as increasing and it is not considered that the proposed disturbance would affect the conservation status of Kerry Slug in this country.

Any derogation licence issued shall condition all of the actions as regards the survey and monitoring methodology that was detailed in the submitted DER licence application form and supporting document (i.e. including the maintenance/replacement of natural refugia and the retention of habitats and micro-habitats)

If the answer above is Yes then the derogation may be granted, providing Tests 1 and 2 have also been met.

Upon completion of your assessment, please return this Recommendation to WLU to continue the application process.
